CiTR is hiring a Technical Coordinator

CiTR 101.9 FM is the broadcasting voice of the University of British Columbia, beginning as a student club in 1937, and gaining not-for-profit status and a place on the FM dial in 1982. CiTR offers students and community members a variety of services which include broadcast and multimedia training, promotional support, live on location coverage of events and much more. Since 1983 CiTR has also published Discorder Magazine, providing unparalleled monthly coverage of Vancouver's local music community, arts scene and political current affairs while providing a space for students and community members to be trained in written journalism, photography, illustration and other aspects of publishing.

The Technical Coordinator will be responsible for supporting CiTR and Discorder's technical systems and coordinating both software and hardware needs over the summer.
